contents

3 GAL Media Update

We've been busy on that internet thingy.

4 Whisper's Story

'Pretty Girl' breaks it down for us.

5 Mother Knows Best

Lady now watches from above, but she left us in good hands (or paws).

6 Adoptees

McDreamy, Buck and Rica- nope, not the cast of 'Grey's Anatomy'- they're our new adoptees!

7 Lost and Found

A true story that teaches a lesson. Just like a Davey and Goliath episode.

8 Where We've Been

No matter where we go, there we are.

9 Brood Mom

Fan fiction- part four of five. The adventures of Baby Momma continue, this time on the farm.

10-11 Retirees

Eight more dogs need a home- that figures.

12-13 Running Free

We will always remember them.

14 Lottery

Hope it ends better than the short story of the same name.

In the Winter 2009 edition of the Gal-Zette, I wrote about Greyhound Action League's plan to expand its web presence. More than a year later, we are everywhere we wanted to be- and more. Our efforts to date:

Our Facebook page is vibrant and growing, with new fans joining every day. It is an active forum for both greyhound enthusiast and innocent bystander.

Visit Facebook here

We Tweet! It took a while to get into the habit, but we are tweeting away when the need calls for it. Please follow us on Twitter if you do too.

Visit Twitter here

YouTube- Our video production team has been busy, particularly lately, and our channel continues to grow and accumulate admirers (and imitators, we've noticed.)

Visit YouTube here

MySpace- No longer widely visited as an entity, however our page there remains current and fresh.

Visit MySpace here

Time Warner Cable- Several slideshows have aired throughout the last year, featuring several events and individual dogs.

Time Warner Cable, Digital Tier, Channel 1001-1003

PetFinder- If you haven't heard of Petfinder, it is a national, searchable database featuring adoptable pets of every species and breed.

Visit Petfinder here

In truth, it wasn't difficult to establish a place on any of the above sites, and to be even more candid, one could argue the overall value of appearing on at least a couple of them. The key is in learning to use these tools effectively. Nearly every other animal related group inhabits these sites as well, so it remains as difficult as ever to be heard above the collective din. One thing is clear, though- a bad photo of an available dog on Petfinder is no longer good enough to get the

With that in mind, we've made great strides in creating content for the web that is innovative, engaging and distinctive, and we have developed tools for promoting our organization and the greyhounds we serve. Those efforts are just now beginning to pay dividends, and will for many more years as our internet presence grows.

Speaking of growing, I'm very pleased to announce the official launch of a new Greyhound Action League website at www.greyhoundactionleague.com. If you're already a member of the group, you may not have visited our home page in a while, as our internal information is distributed differently. It is critically important, however, as it is very often the first stop for anyone contemplating adoption. We've taken great care in selecting and placing the information in ways we hope will lead to a returned application. It also acts as a portal to our other online activities.

If you can manage the time, please visit our new site. We're making improvements regularly, and we always appreciate the feedback as we look forward to another productive year.

Let me tell you about my new life as a pet. Just as I was getting comfortable in my new home, my owner decided to take me to obedience classes. They were kind of fun, but they can be boring, too. You know...the sit, the down, the stay, blah blah blah. I can do all of that, but I really got bored with it. So, on occasion, depending on my mood, I would get a little stubborn and refuse to do what my owner wanted me to do. In the end, I always wind up doing what she wants because she carries around a full pocket of treats. She might actually be more stubborn than I am, but I can live with that for those delicious treats. She's getting something off the top of the fridge right now...biscuit, biscuit, biscuit...hold on. I'll be right back...

Obedience classes evidently were not enough. My owner's next plan was to enroll me in an agility class. Yeah, I thought the same thing, "What the heck is 'agility'?" Well let me tell you about it. At my first class, there were dogs everywhere. Little dogs, fat dogs, hairy dogs, you name it...at least I think they were dogs...black dogs, white dogs, spotted dogs, striped dogs. Anyways, back to agility class. We started by working on turns. Front turns, post/push turns, and back turns were not hard for me, but my trainer is having an awful time doing them right. I, of course, do them perfectly when she tells me which way to go. Incidentally, agility classes are not just for us dogs; my owner has lots to learn too. It'll give you a good laugh watching your owner mess up. Next thing we did was go through a tunnel. I have to tell you, I was pretty scared about that, but I did it. Everyone there didn't think I would go through, but I fooled them. They were all excited, just like I am now! I heard the garage door! My owner is home! That means attention! Be right back...

Where was I? Oh! The tunnel... after I went through the tunnel, I ran really fast because I had my eye on some other dogs there...you know, the little ones. My teeth needed a good cleaning after all those treats, and I thought they would make really good dental floss. Just kidding /(^.^)\ I wouldn't have hurt them. I just wanted to show them that they really couldn't run that fast, and I proved my point. Back to the story...after the tunnel, there was a cat walk type of thing where I had to walk up this slight incline, straight across, and then back down the incline. That was pretty easy and I fooled everyone again. You weren't allowed to jump off at the end; you had to leave your back feet on the board and your front feet on the floor. This is called a 'touch'. I'm not thrilled about the 'touch' thing; I just want to move on to my next challenge. We practice the 'touch command' on boards that are slightly raised off the ground. It does make it easier to practice on the boards. We finish with the jumps. Jumps use the strangest looking piece of equipment I have ever seen. Looking at an enormous white 'H,' I had no idea what I had to do. I learned quickly, that I was to jump over this contraption. I liked that, and there was always a treat waiting for me when I did it. Have I mentioned that treats are a bonus to agility training? So, keep that in mind if your owner wants you to go to agility class. It feels like dinner time. Oh wait...do I hear the water running?! Yippee...

I'm back...whew...what a meal! Oh yeah...agility. I'm in the beginner class, so we haven't put a lot of things together yet. The only thing we've put together so far is going from the touch board to the tunnel. Now that's fun! I'm still working on all my commands, but I'm getting better every week. I can't wait for the weather to get nicer so we can practice outside. So if you hear your owner talking about agility class, let them know you really want to go. Take my word for it, you are going to love it!! It's nap time for me. I hope to see you all in class soon!

In observance of Lady's passing we will not have the usual Q&A. I've struggled with the content of this column. Do I talk about Lady's competitive racing career in FL and IA? Her Brood Mom duties producing 19 pups from four litters? Her second career as a volunteer to promote greyhound adoption? I could tell you how much we loved her, that she was beautiful, sweet and gentle. Lady was a determined grey and set in her ways. Perhaps we could share that many of her endearing traits were passed along to ten of her puppies that retired to Buffalo. They are here because of her and will live on as will Lady's memory. Your family misses you Pretty Lady....xox

Because we feel this column is an important part of the GAL-Zette, the new caretakers for it will be Lady's nieces, Hallie Jo & Gracie. Littermates to each other, and daughters of the Late Redbabybrindle, they too were former racers and brood moms. They plan on working together as a team to answer questions and offer suggestions for those in need.

Last you heard from me, I was leaving Dubuque, Iowa track to go to the Bluffs Run, Iowa track for the winter as Dubuque closes. Think I mentioned I'm a baby and a bit concerned about those big boys at Bluffs Run. It's one of the best tracks in the country. Anyway, I started racing at Bluffs Run on Oct. 17, 2009- grade C. I ran three races, finishing 5th, 7th and 7th again. On November 5th, disaster struck - those big boys pushed me around, and I fell and broke my leg. Oh my goodness did that hurt! But my dad, Gary, came to Bluffs Run, picked me up and took me back to the farm where I was born. How nice to be home and see everyone again including my mom. I was happy but my leg hurt. Arrangements were made and a very nice couple from GPA/MN came to the farm and picked me up and took me to Minneapolis.

I was taken to the orthopedic surgeon in Minneapolis and he insisted I needed surgery on my leg. What a scary thought! However, my foster parents assured me I'd be ok. They were right, after my surgery I recovered with my foster parents and did just fine. I love to snuggle and hug with them. Seems I was so lovable they couldn't give me up and they let the adoption coordinator know I was home with them and they adopted me!! All's well that ends well! I'm very happy and that's the end of my racing career. Hope everyone is as happy for me as I am.

Boc's McDreamy: This boy was a long time racer and you can see the determination in his expression and enjoy the affection in his actions. He was fostered by the Lynch-Johnt and Pike families. He found a wonderful greyhound home and is now Max Szelest. Every retiree should be as fortunate!

Bucks Wanna Win: After finishing his racing career in Dubuque IA he has been fortunate to secure a wonderful home with a greyhound sister named Honey, a fenced yard and owners that like to take walks. He was immediately welcomed as part of the family and is known as Buck O'Neil. He was fostered by the Ongley and Paschen families.

Charm's Pride: This greyhound knows how to enjoy each day to the fullest. Happy go lucky and loving other dogs as equally as his human he was so happy to become Remy Neziol. He is fortunate not only to have Christine, and a new sister Delilah, but he will get to see his mom again too! The Bagne, Hopper and Mazur's were his foster homes. View the happy ending to his adoption by checking out our video on YouTube.

Flash of Dust: A good racer that finished his career at the Dairyland WI closing he came to Buffalo seeking a good retirement home. Fostered by the Wemple family Bandit was a super complement to his litter sister Dream and so became a permanent member of the Wemple Family.

Heber Springs: This sweetheart is an all around girl and was excited to learn she would be sharing her retirement home with another girl-grey. A favorite of foster homes Lingle and Pike she is now Anna Della Vella and completely doted on. She has already started her volunteer work following in step with her sister Gretchen.

O Ya Pretty Girl: Well, sometimes love at first sight works out and sometimes it does not. Fortunately for this sweetheart of a girl her foster home fell head over heels in love. Whisper is now a loved member of the Torrelli family and enjoys her fenced yard and agility lessons.

Rica Feliz: dubbed as one of the Lingle's most favorite foster dogs Rica was fortunate to go to a loving home with a beautiful fenced yard and a sweetheart of a Beagle sister named Missy. She is now enjoying being Rica Cera. She hopes to meet up with her greyhound sister Sasha and mother Tick at one of the GAL Events.

Whistler's Folly: welcomed to the GALs by several littermates and her mom. She was fostered by the Pikes and has since found a forever home as Lexi Merk. She is the apple of her mom's eye and is really enjoying her retirement.

Wonderous Day: spent her racing days in Dubuque IA. The pretty girl was selected by her race owner to be homed by the GALs. She was fostered by the Bagne and Hopper families and has now become a new volunteer and is known as Zoe Hopper.

Lexi, formerly Whistler's Folly.

Last month, I spoke to my friend Mike, a New Jersey resident with three retired greys. In the process of catching up with each other, he told me a story about one of his dogs that I think bears repeating.

It seems one day last summer, Mike and his dogs were returning home from a meet and greet somewhere in town. Just as he had done dozens of times before, Mike started unloading the dogs from the back of the SUV. With the three leashes in hand, Mike pulled out Trigger, then Barney and finally Coco, his only female. Unbeknownst to Mike, an aggressive, loose dog had been roaming the neighborhood in his absence, and at that moment rounded the back of the house, spotting Trigger and Barney. In a few short seconds, the other dog was upon them. "I didn't know what to do," said Mike, "I was trying to pull the boys back to get to the dog in front of them." It was at this point that Coco, terrified and pulling hard, escaped Mike's grasp and took off at full speed in the other direction. Luckily, Trigger and Barney did a pretty good job of defending themselves, and by the time Mike got to the other dog, he'd had just about enough. Unfortunately, Coco was no longer in sight. As soon as he was able, Mike called some friends and they searched for the rest of that day, and most of the next two, without success.

Wednesday brought two important developments- Mike summoned a Pet Retrieval Specialist from Pennsylvania and Coco was sighted- about a mile away, in a wooded area.

Armed with motion sensitive cameras and a live trap, it wasn't until Saturday- a full week after she ran off- that they were able to lure Coco into the trap, ending her ordeal. The cost- more than $3000.00.

I relay this story not only as a cautionary example, but also to illustrate how fortunate we are to have the resources in this area that Mike did not. The Greyhound Walking Club of Syracuse has generously donated a live trap to Greyhound Action League, and it stands ready to be deployed when the need arises. Also through private donation, we have various motion sensitive and infra-red cameras to be used depending on the nature and duration of the lost dog event.

In addition, our Enhanced Lost Dog Notification System is now fully operational. Our Lost Dog Pager number remains the same, but our ability to notify those that can help is now much more efficient- reducing our response time, getting people searching quickly and hopefully delivering a favorable outcome. We also have gained the ability to text message alerts during a lost dog episode.

If you haven't already, please take a moment to email your preferred contact information to info@greyhoundactionleague.com. This is and will remain a free service for this organization, and I encourage you to enroll- you never know when you may need it.

IT COULD BE A TRAP: In fact, it is a trap- large enough to catch a greyhound or an entire family of dachshunds.

Besides our regular monthly events, Greyhound Action League held two notable events in March:

MARCH MIXER: MARCH 21, 2010

Old and new friends gathered at the Casino building in Como Park for a relaxing and fun afternoon. The large turnout made the space seem all the more intimate, and enhanced the enjoyment of each other's company and the appreciation for the greyhounds present. Special guests were on hand from Pennsylvania, West Virginia and even Canada. Thanks to everyone who brought food, it was all delicious. See you next year!

PHOTOS WITH THE EASTER BUNNY: MARCH 27, 2010

With no offense intended towards the Easter Bunny, we knew in advance that this fundraiser does not offer the same appeal as the one with Santa. With minimal investment, however, this event yielded great results. In addition to the funds raised, we received several weeks of publicity in advance of photo day, and were even recognized on local television that evening. This should make our Photos with Santa fundraiser even more successful in December. Thanks to Mark and Jen, to Doug and Dianne, and to Stapley's Feed Center for their continued generosity and support.

Outside again. At least my box was still available. The strip of duct tape with ‘RedBabyBrindle’ written on it was peeling, but still attached. After two years on the breeding farm, this small plywood box had become my home and I had become used to it, such as it was.

For the last several weeks, I had been staying in the barn, where I bore my last litter of puppies. There were nine this time, all healthy, and all on their own journeys now. So, too, are the eight pups from my first litter last year. As for me, it was back out to the pen to wait for whatever was in store for me.

The possibilities weren’t all that numerous. I’d have more puppies here, be sold to another farm, or an adoption group might arrive and find a family home for me. There was also a fourth unpleasant alternative that I did not wish to think about.

I worked in my box for a bit, rearranging the nesting materials for maximum comfort. It was still early in the day, and I had been cooped up in the barn for a long time, so I headed back outside.

It must be Friday, I thought. Vehicles were parked along the outside of my fence and people were beginning to gather around the large ramp leading to the main barn door. It was auction day.

Every week, owners would come to buy or trade each other’s dogs. It was a speculative venture, each owner looking for a brood bitch or a stud male to match with their own dogs, hoping for a bargain.

I knew I was safe, at least for today. If I was to be sold, I wouldn’t have been let out of the barn. I took a quick look around the rows of dog boxes to see who might have been taken.

My sister, Go Black Lady, was still there, to my relief. I poked my head into Dewdrop’s dog house, and she was curled around the stuffed animal they had given to her after her whole litter of pups died at birth.

I was on my way down another row when the bidding started on the first dog. I made my way back to the corner of the pen nearest the barn door. I still couldn’t make out what dog was up. I’d have to find a way to see around the people in front of me. I jumped up onto the last dog box in the row. Oh, God. It was Bella.

Bella had been on the breeding farm longer than any other dog. She race for a long time and had five litters of pups. She was nine years old and had been through enough.

She was shaking, and she looked absolutely terrified. How humiliating, I thought. She had done everything they’d ever asked of her and now she’s subjected to this. To make matters worse, no one seemed to want her. She never got a bid for the starting price of $500 and was taken off of the stand. The owner retrieved her and walked back over to the fence not far from where I was perched.

A woman had edged her way around the back of the crowd and approached him. “Excuse me sir-” she said, “I’m sorry your dog didn’t sell but I happen to be with a local greyhound adoption organization, and if you would release her to us, we will find her a home with a family.” As the owner was about to answer, another man appeared and said, “I see your dog didn’t sell. I bet I can breed her a couple more times, but if I can’t, I don’t want to spend a lot of money for her. I’ll give you 100 bucks cash.”

“I’m sorry, lady, I’ve got to get something for her.” the owner told the woman, simultaneously accepting the breeder’s money.

With that, the breeder scooped Bella up and put her into the back of his pick up truck. That was the last time I saw her.

ASSEMBLE – Nov 2007; ‘Jimmy’ is a special greyhound with terrific enthusiasm. His first home was not the right fit, but he is optimistic the next home will suit his needs. He can be competitive so he would be happiest as a single dog. A fenced yard will satisfy his desire and love for running and playing with stuffed toys. He likes children but since he is protective of his food should not share a permanent residence with them. He listens very well and is completely loyal which is testament to his intelligence. If you are a take charge person and looking for a single companion pet, this boy could be for you.

EL CINE – Jun 2006; ‘Cine’ is a perfect as they come. He has tremendous soul and will look you in the eyes when you speak to him. It’s as if he is talking back. He is laidback with a nice balance of playfulness. He is well behaved with other greyhounds and good with cats. Cine likes to take a spin in a fenced yard so we would prefer an adopter that can provide one. He is well behaved and tolerant with children. Cine walks very well on lead and enjoys an evening stroll.

ADOPTION

ELLA CAN FLY – Sep 2006; ‘Ella’ is an active and fun greyhound. She is full of life and wants to make the most of every moment. Very affectionate and happy she has an incredible positive outlook. Ella gets along very well with other greyhounds. She could probably manage as a single pet but would also enjoy the company of another grey. She likes to play with stuffy toys and dreams of a place that has a big basket full of working squeakys. She is looking for a home that likes to keep up with her pace, and accepting of her many kisses.

GABLE PEPPERONI – Mar 2006; ‘Pepper’ is a large but gentle boy. He is a new arrival but so far has been very well behaved in his foster home, and with his foster siblings. He met some cats early on and appeared more afraid than anything. He is easy going and very patient.

HOOT – Jan 2005; ‘Sandy’ has had bad luck strike twice. A retiree from FL she had a home for awhile but was returned due to financial issues. She ended up where she started until the founder of the group passed away. Taken into emergency foster care by another adoption group, she waited patiently for a northern organization. She arrived in Buffalo last summer and went to a new family. Now, a pending relocation has sent Sandy packing again. A very nice and gentle girl, she is very tolerant of other greyhounds, cats and children. Sandy needs the third time to be the charm. A tried and true greyhound home is what Sandy wants, are you the one for her?

JA's SILK SOCK – May 2006; ‘Silkie Socks’ may be petite in stature but is certainly grand in presence. This sweetheart finished racing at the end of last May. She was destined to be put away but a good person opted to keep her hidden until an adoption organization could take her in. She is a huge smiler and can be submissive. Silkie is curious, friendly and likes people. She considers herself a lap dog. She tends to follow the pack and would be better suited with another dog. She is cat terrified.

JF's MR TEE – Sep 2002; ‘Tee’ was returned by his family due to a lifestyle change. Self assured but not overly pushy this boy would make an excellent greyhound representative. He is good with children and cats and gets along well with other greyhounds. Initially he makes his presence known but an experienced owner with good attention skills will be able to guide Tee into the appropriate routine.

WAVE RUNNER – Dec 2006; ‘Runner’ is classified as a special needs dog. In the right home he will make the perfect companion. Runner bonds solidly with his adopter, so much that occasionally he suffers from some separation anxiety. Mixing up the routine helps with those tendencies. He would be best with a retiree or someone that works from home. Runner enjoys sole ownership of his human and can get irritated and act out towards other dogs in a shared environment. Because of this he must go into a single dog home. Please don't let his special requirements over shadow his wonderfully loving and devoted traits. Runner is as sweet as they come and is very good with cats and birds. He also enjoys taking casual strolls.

Blue

Blue Klemenich (BR's Malzbu) We had her only 2 1/2 years but were so lucky to have known & loved her. We will truly never forget our sweet girl.....Kathy & Dave adopted Blue as a senior to give her a chance as life as a loved pet. Thank you both.

Emily Klein-Shall (Dynamic Emily) Sweet is the perfect word to describe Emily. We miss her so much but feel so blessed to have had her in our lives. She passed away on November 17th just a few weeks shy of her 13th Birthday. Emily was an Ambassador at Hospice until that time. She spent her later years as a true "couch potato" and enjoyed long walks at Como Park and around the neighborhood.

Dynamic Emily

Jake

Jesse Drust (JCS Dawnliter) When Jesse first arrived in Buffalo, he was very anxious and was on anti depressants. But with lots of love he eventually thrived and lived to the ripe old age of 13 years and 3 months. Although my heart is broken, for Jesse it was time. As the poem says he is "whole and strong " again!

Jake Capizzi (Jakes Noisy) 1/16/97-12/16/09 Gotcha day 11/13/2000, aka 'Jake Your Booty', he was an amazing boy. He loved being a therapy dog, competing in agility, meet & greets and hiking. But his first love was just being around the people he loved and who loved him back. Most of all he was my soul mate. We always knew each other's needs without a word and will always have a very special connection. His kisses were never ending; he taught us the true meaning of unconditional love. We will love and miss him forever. Jake we look for your big shining star in the sky every night just to say good night and hope you are enjoying doggy heaven. Sleep well Booty Boy, we love you. Mom, Dad & Ratsey.

Kahuna Palm (Big Kahuna Joe) My beloved heart dog was born 10-9-96 and passed to the rainbow bridge on 2-11-10. He ran at Bluffs Run in Iowa in 67 races and was quite successful. He retired at age 4 and came to live with us. He was attached to me at the hip following me everywhere and crying if I had to leave the house. We'll never forget him and he'll be in our hearts forever. His short almost ten years with us was not enough. We'll love you forever sweet boy, fly high my Kahuna, one day I'll join you again. Love Always, Sharon & Mike

Kahuna

Maddie

Maddie Pike (MD Gird) Our Maddie, came in and out of our lives several times before staying as part the family permanently. She was the smartest greyhound we have ever known, and often misunderstood. We were very proud of her intelligence and her ability to overcome and be 'my go to girl'. You will always be in our hearts. Thank you Maddog for not using the pillow or stealing the car. Love you Forever, Mom and Dad.

Shadow Hendra (Hello HalfnHalf) Shadow retired at the age of three years after racing in WV and FL. He was a big boy with an even bigger heart, truly a gentle and kind soul. He loved his adoptive family so much and enjoyed his fenced yard and daily strolls. Marge & Jim miss him very much Waltzy Piquette (My T Waltz) She was adopted by Wayne and Cheryl while in Hinsdale NH. She enjoyed her retirement and was a happy hound. She shared her home with other greyhounds, cats and even many children. When I met Waltz she was very content and seemed so young at heart. She is missed very much.

The winning option to help adoption! The GALs have embarked on a new fundraising effort for this organization. We are selling Lottery Tickets to generate $$$ to assist with our GAL Foster Dogs. Our reason for this effort is to help defer the daily expense of food and medical costs for maintaining greyhounds in foster care. Can you help?

What we need are folks willing to try and sell some of the tickets. If you have family, friends or co-workers that you can reach out to for selling or purchasing we would appreciate the support.

How it works: The ticket seller is provided with tickets. They sell them at $5 per ticket, each ticket contains two, three-digit numbers. Based on the evening NYS drawings we use the same number to select our winners. The tickets are for the month of June, this means each ticket holder has two chances over thirty days (sixty chances total) to win. Prize amounts are $25 for matching numbers drawn Monday through Friday, and $50 for matching numbers drawn on Saturday or Sunday. We have the opportunity to sell up to 500 tickets during April and May for the June Drawing. Sounds like a big task, but with efforts from the many we can make the Greyhounds the true lottery recipients and Winners.

If you are interested in being a ticket seller or purchaser, contact Laura at 716.867.9822 or email at izofawoman@aol.com. Please consider helping the GALs with this endeavor.

In June of 2008 when GALs opted to become a fully fledged Adoption Organization we were faced with so many details that needed to be put into place. A Web Site acknowledging our existence and mission was very necessary but I felt out of reach at that time.

Two weeks after the announcement I received a conference call from Cathy and Mark DiNardo. They asked if I had plans for a web site (which I had not at that time) and generously offered to help us get started, up and running on the internet by providing the GALs with a terrific web site, both designing and sponsoring it for us.

In short order they had secured the .org domain and patiently waited for me to supply them with the text (offering good ideas and suggestions) and they went forward creating the GALs on the internet. I feel their efforts were an integral part of promoting the GALs and giving us creditability as an organization. They also have supported us through donations from Cathys business Gia's Gifts & Crafts and Marks business DSM Electronics. Despite being located in Rochester they have promoted the GALs to folks interested in adopting and by offering to assist with home visits.

It has been nearly two years and I am still humbled by their thoughtfulness and support to help with the GALs beginnings. On behalf of the GALs and the greyhounds their efforts have helped, I want to thank them both for making our niche on the internet and adoption community. Words cannot express our appreciation.
